Newsletter

Welcome back everyone! It has been absolutely wonderful to see all of our children and families returning after the half term break, refreshed and ready for what promises to be a very busy, fun-filled and jam-packed half term ahead.

Please do keep a close eye on the dates page in the newsletter so you don't miss any of the exciting events and activities coming up over the next few weeks.

We have already had some fantastic highlights this week. On Monday, we were delighted to welcome Alice Sharpe, Olympic cyclist, into school. She inspired the children with her visit and supported them in their exercise activities. A huge thank you to everyone who has taken part in sponsorship – your contributions will not only support Alice in her Olympic journey, but will also help raise valuable funds for PE in our school.

Another wonderful highlight was hearing all about the Reception trip to South Angle Farm. The children had an amazing day meeting the animals, and we were incredibly proud to hear that members of the public and farm staff commented on how well behaved our children were. They were described as some of the best visitors the farm has ever had – demonstrating wonderful manners and excellent listening skills. Well done,

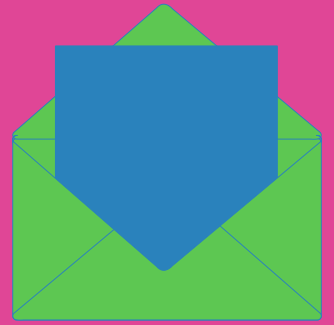

Team Reception!

Trumpington Park
Primary School

Year 1 have been busy exploring measuring and capacity in their maths learning. It has been lovely to see the children so engaged in practical activities, comparing and measuring different amounts and developing their understanding through hands-on experiences.

School has also been a hive of activity with music and performance. Both Year 2 and Year 6 have been busy practising for their upcoming summer productions. There is certainly a buzz of excitement in the air, and I am very much looking forward to seeing their performances in the coming weeks.

In Year 4, children have been working incredibly hard on their times tables. I have been so impressed with how quickly and confidently they are now answering a wide range of questions—fantastic effort!

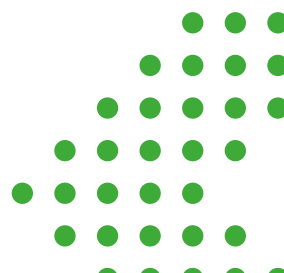

I have also had the pleasure of hearing some brilliant French conversations from children. In particular, Turner and Kahlo really impressed me with their confident and beautiful conversations—très bien!

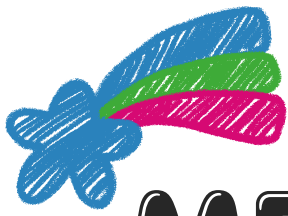

Finally, do keep an eye on our Facebook page, where we will be sharing a special reel later on.

Thank you, as always, for your continued support. Have a lovely weekend!

THIS WEEK'S LEARNING

Children in Year 4 are underway with their Multiplication Tables Checks (MTC), continuing into next week. We are so proud of the children for the dedication they have shown to learning their times tables. Any extra time spent practising will of course be beneficial. Please check your child's TTRS 'heatmap' or ask your child's teacher if you are not sure which times tables to practise with them. Well done Year 4! Keep going and who knows, there could be a special small thank you waiting for you when the MTC window closes...

10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators

CREATIVE WAYS TO ENCOURAGE READING

Reading regularly has a life-long impact, yet recent data from the National Literacy Trust shows a decline in reading for pleasure among 8- to 18-year-olds, with just 32.7% enjoying it in 2025. Despite growing distractions, there are practical ways adults can spark a love of reading. This guide offers strategies and resources to help inspire young readers.

1 VALUE ALL READING

When we think about reading, it's very easy to assume if you're reading a fictional novel, however, reading is so much more than this. To help your children, why not show them how to create a "24-hour reading diary" all down of reading and then discuss this with them. By doing this, you can demonstrate the many ways we turn to reading.

2 WIDEN THE SELECTION

Once we know reading can be varied, we need to think about the selection of reading material they can access. Visit a shop selling magazines, the library and a bookstore, and consider the range of material that is available within them. Then consider how you might broaden that reading choice, so all young people have access to a wide and varied selection.

3 GIFT A BOOK

One simple way to encourage reading is to make books feel special. Gifting a book adds value and shows it's something to be treasured. Whether it's as a reward or for a celebration like a birthday, let the young person choose a title or genre and you know they will enjoy. You could also include a personal note inside.

4 CONNECT WITH AUTHORS

Meeting authors can certainly spark an interest in their reading material. This might be through a live event in a school/venue or by using the wealth of online material that is now available. Encourage young people to look for ways to connect with authors using the resources such as Authorly and Just Imagine's Children's Authors List.

5 BUILD YOUR KNOWLEDGE

Access training about reading for pleasure to widen your understanding of this topic and, more importantly, how to develop it. Explore a wide range of free resources that can be found online. The more you know, the better placed you are to inspire a love of reading in others.

6 TALK BOOKS

There are times when we need silence to read and focus on our book. However, we know that reading is a social experience, so we must also factor in discussion time. Reading the same book gives two people a connection and the opportunity to voice their thoughts and questions about it. Why not buy two copies of a book and read it together? Start the connection.

7 RECOMMENDATIONS

As well as talking about the content of books, we can share what we are reading or have read recently. This can often act as a trigger for someone else to explore it. How often have you watched a film or series because someone else has recommended it? It's the same with books. If you know the young person well, you can tailor your recommendations and share why you think they'll enjoy it.

8 GO DIGITAL

With the rise in online digital material, we can easily focus on the negatives, however, it also brings a wealth of opportunities. Resources are old and enhance the reading experience for young people. They can read along with subtitles, bookmarks, and track their reading time with resources like Fighlon and even the bookmarks for older children. Digitised quality books are being made to life and offer a great way for engagement.

9 RECONNECT

There can come a time when a love of reading seems to disappear. It doesn't mean it's gone forever. A primary reason they have lost the connection. How do we get it back? Find the next piece of reading material that sparks their current interests. The National Year of Reading, Year of the Allot captures this well as it is their way forward. As children grow and change, so do their interests. A visit to the local library is a great way to support the reconnection.

10 LEAD BY EXAMPLE

Let them see you reading. If you make time to read, you send a strong message to children, reading matters. Show why you enjoy it, is it to relax, escape the world, learn something new or to be entertained? When children see reading as a normal and valued part of everyday life, they are more likely to adopt it themselves.
